Routledge Handbook of Religion and Ecology

Edited by Willis J. Jenkins, Mary Evelyn Tucker and John Grim, Yale University, USA

Series: Routledge International Handbooks

Written by a team of leading international experts, this handbook discusses dynamics of change within religious traditions and their roles in responding to global challenges such as climate change, water, conservation, food and population. It explores the interpretations of indigenous traditions regarding modern environmental problems, drawing on such concepts as lifeway and indigenous knowledge. Uniquely intersecting the fields of religion and ecology with new directions within the humanities and sciences, the book explores the history and significance of key areas where religion and ecology can act as a dialogue partner for environmental solutions.
