

Call for Book Collaborators

Looking for collaborators for a book (in writing) temporary titled 'Final Warming - The Biblical Flood and the Climate Crisis.'

Abstract

The climate crisis is upon us with undisputed scientific evidence indicating that our planet is rapidly declining. Reflecting on known human history, the Biblical Flood, mentioned in many ancient cultures, is the most relevant point of reference. Well supported by archaeological findings, the Flood is very similar to the predictions of the near future, and is attributed to humanity's lack of morals, mainly expressed in greed and lust, among others.

This work will compare and contrast ancient sources on the Biblical flood (and potentially other religious and cultural relevant sources) with current events – e.g., shark fins harvest, genetically modified animals, animal porn etc (the focus is on animal abuse). I look for collaborators from different religious and cultural backgrounds to add sources and comment on the existing ones.
