

Religion & the Environment

An Interfaith Exploration of Conservation and Environmentalism

Featured Lecture by Mary Evelyn Tucker and John Grim

Mary Evelyn Tucker and John Grim teach at Yale School of the Environment and Yale Divinity School. They are series editors of the Harvard volumes from the conferences on Religion and Ecology and are co-directors of the Yale Forum on Religion and Ecology.

Drs. Tucker and Grim will open the program with a brief lecture exploring the themes of conservation and environmentalism across the three Abrahamic faiths. Following the lecture, local faith leaders will discuss how these themes are incorporated into their teachings and practices.

Panel Discussion with Local Faith Leaders

Reverend Stephanie Johnson St. Pauls Episcopal Church

Panel Moderator

Rabbi Jay TelRav Temple Sinai Stamford

Reverend Elizabeth Garnsey St. Pauls Episcopal Church

Senior Pastor Cliffe Knechtle Grace Church

Reverend Rob Kinnally Saint Aloysius Parish

Dr. Kareem Adeeb Chair, Interfaith Council Southwestern CT

Part-Time Imam, United Nations in New York

Tuesday,
February 1st 7- 9 pm

At the Congregational Church of New Canaan

Virtual viewing available via live stream.

Register at:
NewCanaanLandTrust.org/Religion-Environment-2022